b. Local:

- i. Males:
 - a) Penis: development, any defect, deformity, length and Girth of penis in flaccid and erect condition. (it can be stimulated to get erect by tickeling it with cotton wool swab or even by showing nude pictures or models of opposite or same sex- if so desired by the subject , as from his past experience of getting such erections by such ways). Note whether foreskin can be freely rolled up or is circumscised: any injury on the frenulum or elsewhere on the organ, evidence of any disease e.g. STD. Note the duration of erection, In case of ejaculation of semen- it is to be collected, measured and examined.

b) Scrotum, testes and epididymis: (size, sensation, cremastic reflex; if any disease present)

c) Prostate: Normal, enlarged, diseased.

ii. Females:

a) Development, defect, deformity, abnormality, if any. Any congenital atresia or adhearance of labia, abnormality of hymen eg. Imperforate hymen, pinpoint hymenal meatus with thick inelastic margins, allowing only one finger; normal vagina or atresia of vagina with ill defined opening: any evidence of vaginisms with normally developed vagina and elastic hymen. Note any evidence of STD.

11. Laboratory examination:

- a. Examination of semen. If no seminal emission is available even onmastrubation, prostatic massage need be done in all cases, not only to collect semen but also to assess the state of prostate. Examination of urethral smear for STD.
- b. Blood for VDRL, sugar, urine for sugar

12. Opinion:

Certifying that taking into consideration the general configuration, the clinical data on examination (date of examination.....) of CNS, and other systems etc. and other findings as noted, all considered together, I am of the opinion that

- a. There is nothing to suggest that the male subject (name.....) as examined, is not capable of performing sexual act in ordinary way or that the female subject (name.....) as examined is not capable of taking part in sexual act in the ordinary way as a female partner (when their genital are normal i.e. when physical examination fails to revela anything which is likely to interfere with sexual act)

Note: if the labia majora and minora are ill developed, vaginal introitus is too narrow with ill definid opening in or absence od vagina, or in case of her hymen being too thick and rigid, not admitting even tip of little finger, or when even with normal development of genitals but due to vaginismus ie when the patient (name.....) with normal genitals and vaginismus complains of excruciating pain and refuses examination when the inner aspect of vulva is touched, the question of introduction of penis into this vagina is impossible under such conditions; thus the lady is not apte vera or is incapable to take part in sex act, vaginal For ruling out psychic impotence, psychiatric evaluation is imperative.

b. The male subject (name.....) is not capable of performing any sex act in the ordinary way or female subject (name.....) as examined is not capable in taking part in sex act as a female partner in the ordinary way. (when physical examination reveals gross abnormalities of the external genitalia).
